Letter of Recommendation

I am writing this letter to offer my highest possible and sincerest recommendation in favor of Ms. Alina who graduated from B.E Computer Science with a distinction in 2016. Having been a guide to her in her Bachelor thesis and overseen her overall academics and extracurricular for over 18 months, I consider Alina as one of the most consistent, disciplined and hardworking students.

I was her professor for Web Programming and Computer Networking Labs. Having seen her exemplary performance, I rate her 2nd in a class of 60. It is her eagerness and thirst for research that made her stand out when compared to her colleagues. I already knew about her ability and grasp to undertake a well-researched and potential project as I spoke to other faculty members. When she approached me, she already worked on two minor projects. One of which is a website developed on .NET technology which incorporates various research papers in different fields of Information Technology and also gives an insight about various databases and programming languages. She was very famous in the department as she led a team to develop Inventory Management website for the college.

I had no second thoughts before taking her in my team of major project thesis as she had abilities of being a leader and also an active team member whenever required. She came up with an extraordinary idea of applying concepts of Probability, Fuzzy Logic and Load balancing to discover Gateways in Integrated Internet MANETs. This feat was remarkable for which she got "Excellent" in her thesis and her project also got selected in "Top 5" and was showcased in front of everyone in the department. She had no problem with working overtime when her deadline was approaching, which shows her dedication and hard work which has impressed me the most in the years that I have known her.

In this long association, I had enough time to assess her capabilities- both professional and personal. Considering all this, I strongly believe that she will mount to the highest peaks in her fields of research. Without any hesitation, I strongly recommend her for admission in your prestigious University with possible financial assistance. Wishing her all the success in her future endeavors. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.
